

Our Wedding Day

We had nothing when we started our life together A plus was four wonderful children: a bank balance was a minus
Some felt it was a temporary step and wouldn't last forever
But they underestimated her love for us all, that would bind us

I may have provided the means, but it was her that made it work
Keeping the children together as we moved from place to place
And from those challenges ahead of us, she did not shirk
She would find solutions as she met them face to face

So much do we owe her for the life we had and now live
For it could have been so different for all of us She never would take for herself, but only herself to give A mother and a wife whose life, will always be so precious
